

Protect your ability to save for retirement

You've worked hard to save for a comfortable and fulfilling retirement — preparing both financially and emotionally for that stage in life. But, what if a long-term illness or injury before retirement keeps you from working — for several months, a year or longer?

Not being able to work could have a significant impact on:

- Your retirement contributions
- Your employer's contributions

Fortunately, DI Retirement Security can help make sure you don't have to “downsize” your retirement plans.

DI Retirement Security
Protect your retirement plans

How a disability could affect your ability to save

Just think, if you begin saving for retirement at age 30 and all goes well, you could save about $2.2 million by age 65.

However, if your health changes at age 40 and you can no longer work, your retirement contributions will likely stop, as will your growth potential.

Assumptions: $2,000/month contributions beginning at age 30, 5% rate of return and age 65 retirement. Potential loss due to disability at age 40 without continued contributions to retirement savings.

You've got this

Keep your retirement plans on track — no matter what life brings — with DI Retirement Security from Principal®. If you become too sick or hurt to work, it makes monthly deposits to a trust that you can access later as retirement income.

Features that help protect your future

With DI Retirement Security:

- Your coverage cannot be changed or canceled except if you stop paying for it.
- You can choose to have payments go to the trust until age 65 or 67.
- The money that goes to the trust is income tax-free if you pay for coverage with after-tax dollars. However, any earnings you receive from the trust are taxable.
